EDUCATIONAL GOALS AND EXPECTED LEARNING OUTCOMES

A solid understanding, both theoretical and practical, of the classical aspects of the theory of partial differential equations (Laplace, heat and wave equations).

PRE-REQUIREMENTS Differential and integral calculus in several real variables (at the level of the first three years of study), elements of complex analysis in one complex variable (e.g. the Cauchy formula), and elements of functional analysis (e.g. distribution theory).

SYLLABUS

The single first order equation. Second order equations: hyperbolic equations for functions of two independent variables. Characteristic manifolds and the Cauchy problem. The Laplace equation. Hyperbolic equations in higher dimensions. Higher order elliptic equations with constant coefficients. Parabolic equations. H. Lewy's example of a linear equation without solutions.

TEACHING METHODS Theoretical lessons

EVALUATION METHODS Written examination
